

GOVERNOR SLATON CALLS OUT MILITIA FOR PROTECTION

EXECUTIVE PROCLAIMS MARTIAL LAW AROUND COUNTRY HOME

Soldiers Line Up With Fixed Bayonets to Disperse Crowd of Several Hundred Men and Boys, Who Throw Bricks, Stones and Bottles—Crowd
Is Dispersed Without Firing.

BULLETIN.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 22.—At 1:45 a. m. all was quiet around Governor Slaton's estate. An additional battalion of infantry and the governor's horse guards had arrived with State Adjutant General Nash in command.

Scouts on motorcycles and in automobiles scoured the surrounding country and reported they had seen nothing of crowds said to be en route to the governor's home from several directions.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 21.—With several hundred men and boys clamoring to get into the front gates of his country home on Peachtree Road, which had been barricaded with barbed wire entanglements and threatening to overpower twenty county policemen, armed with riot guns, Governor Slaton called out the militia late tonight for protection.

Proclaims Martial Law.
Upon the arrival of four companies of state guardsmen, which had been held under arms and rushed to the estate in automobiles, the governor proclaimed martial law in a district extending half a mile in front of his home, half a mile back and for a distance of about a quarter of a mile on either side.

When the soldiers lined up with fixed bayonets to disperse the crowd, stones, bricks and bottles were thrown at them. A brick struck Lieutenant Arnold Parker in the stomach and rendered him unconscious for a short time. A bottle thrown at Private W. W. Foppe, struck his gun and cut his hand.

Commanding Officer Is Struck.
The commanding officer, Major Catron, was struck by a stone as were several of the men.

The governor told his informant that such a request would have to come from the sheriff of Baldwin county. At midnight the sheriff had not requested troops.

A telephone message from Milledgeville, where the state prison farm is located and where Leo M. Frank was taken today after Governor Slaton had commuted his death sentence to life imprisonment, said that trouble was feared there tonight and asked that the governor order out the Milledgeville company of militia.

The governor told his informant that such a request would have to come from the sheriff of Baldwin county. At midnight the sheriff had not requested troops.

The governor was surrounded at his home by about a dozen friends, nearly everyone of whom was armed with a rifle or pistol. The unexpected arrival of a member of the family at a dark corner of the front porch caused the governor himself to hastily pick up a large pistol.

In front of the governor's house were more than 100 automobiles filled with persons evidently there to see what the crowd would do. The troops had great difficulty in clearing the road of these machines and many of their orders were met with the retort to "shoot."

Leo Frank, whose death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan was commuted to life imprisonment early today by Governor Slaton, began serving his term at the state prison farm in Milledgeville a few hours later. He will be known as "Convict No. 9655."

Taken to Prison Secretly.
Officials secretly took Frank by train and automobile from the Atlanta jail to Milledgeville and soon afterward Governor Slaton issued a long statement giving his reasons for commuting the sentence which was to have been executed tomorrow.

Mangum, who with deputies, took the prisoner to Milledgeville assured the crowd he had delivered Frank at the prison. The throng which packed the floor and galleries, then marched to five points in the center of the business section and later went to the city hall. As this had been the scene of a demonstration early in the day, the police took stern measures. Soon the list of arrests had increased to ten, all charged with failure to "move on."

Mounted officers rode in circles in the crowd and the demonstrators gradually dispersed. Early tonight the throngs on the street appeared quiet.

Governor Hanged in Effigy.
At Marietta, twenty miles away, the former home of Mary Phagan, Governor Slaton was hanged in effigy. An inscription on the dummy read:

"John Slaton, Georgia's traitor governor."
The governor went fully into details of why he commuted the sentence in his 15,000 word statement. He said his decision "may mean that I must live in obscurity the rest of my days but I would rather be plowing in a field than to feel for the rest of my life that I had taken a man's blood on my hands."

Still Protests Innocence.
Frank did not know until a few minutes before he started on the ride to Milledgeville that he was to leave his cell last night. His heavy, distinctive eye glasses were removed, he wore a slouch hat and the few persons at the railway station did not recognize the famous prisoner. However, his identity became known when the train reached Griffin and at Macon he was reported to be very nervous, needing the support of Sheriff Mangum when he was transferred from the railroad coach to an automobile. At the prison today nevertheless Frank had regained his outward calm that had marked his two year fight for life. He again protested his innocence, expressed gratitude to Governor Slaton and said that he had intuitively believed he would at least get a commutation of sentence.

Dorsey Issues Statement.
Solicitor General Dorsey, who prosecuted Frank, issued a statement tonight in which he declared the "action" of Governor Slaton nullifying the judgments of the state and federal courts and overriding the recommendations of the state board of pardons "unprecedented."

He added that no defendant in his recollection had had the benefit of more appeals to both the state and federal courts.

"I cannot find in the record of the Frank case or in the governor's lengthy statement of attempted justification one reason why the governor should interfere with the judgments of the courts in this case," said the solicitor.

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN IMPORTANT RACE DECISION

Annuls Oklahoma Constitutional Amendment and Annapolis Male Voters' Qualification Law.

Washington, June 21.—In probably one of the most important race decisions in its history the supreme court today annulled as unconstitutional the Oklahoma constitutional amendment and the Annapolis male voters' qualification law restricting the suffrage rights of those who could not vote or whose ancestors could not vote prior to the ratification of the fifteenth amendment to the federal constitution.

Chief Justice White, a native of the south and a former confederate soldier, announced the court's decision which was unanimous.

By holding that conditions that existed before the fifteenth amendment, which provides that the right to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude, could not be brought over to the present day in disregard of this self-executing amendment, it is generally believed that the court went a long way toward invalidating much of the so-called "grand father clause" legislation of southern states. The immediate effect of the court's decision was to uphold the conviction of two Oklahoma election officials who denied negroes the right to vote in a congressional election and to award three Maryland negroes damages from election officials in Annapolis who refused to register them.

AUSTRO-GERMANS TAKE RAWARUSKA

Sieze Railway, Cutting Off
Russ Retreat Northward
From Lemberg

INVESTMENT IMMINENT

Teutons Are Reported to Be Fighting Within Nine Miles of Limits of Capital

FRENCH REPORT ADVANCES

LONDON, June 21.—Rawaruska, according to a Berlin official report, is the latest Russian position in Galicia to fall into the hands of the Austro-Germans, and as the Teutons also are reported to be fighting east of this town the investment of Lemberg must be so nearly complete that the Russians either must withdraw from the Galician capital or leave a portion of their forces there to be besieged.

Cuts off Retreat Northward.
The German General Von Mackensen is reported to have seized the railway connecting Rawaruska with Lemberg, thus cutting off the retreat northward of the Russians.

According to the latest news from the Austro-German headquarters the Teutonic allies are now within nine miles of the limits of Lemberg. Wonder is expressed by German military critics over the Austro-German advance of the last few days. They had expected the Russians to make a firm stand along the Grodek line. Instead however, Grand Duke Nicholas, the commander-in-chief of the Russians, not only retired quickly from this position but evidently recognizing his dangerous predicament, also ordered the withdrawal of the Russian forces from south of the Dniester river.

An official Turkish report indicates that there has been considerable activity in the Dardanelles, with an allied battleship again battering away at the forts of Seddul Bahr.

Paris Reports Advances.
In the west, Paris continues to report French advances especially in the region of Arras. Here it is asserted progress has been made in the direction of Souchez and the capture of several trenches has brought the attackers near the north west of the village. Further progress also is reported in the Lorraine district and in the Vosges.

In the later region the French claim to have made an advance beyond the cemetery at Metzler, the loss of which town is now officially admitted by Berlin. England today turned its interest from actual warfare to the provision of sinews of war. The house of commons having provided the government a blank check, the size of which is to be limited only by the patriotism and resources of British investors.

The trial in Africa of General Christian DeWet, one of the rebel leaders has ended in a verdict proclaiming him guilty of treason. It is not expected however, that the death sentence will be imposed.

SUPREME COURT DECIDES TO REVIEW CAMINETTI'S CONVICTION

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Reversing its own action of a week ago the supreme court today decided to review the conviction of F. Drew Caminetti of San Francisco, facing prison sentence for violation of the white slave law. At the same time it agreed to review the conviction of Maury I. Diggs, found guilty with Caminetti in the sensational cases which attracted countrywide attention two years ago.

The cases will be the first in which the supreme court has reviewed a white slave law prosecution where it was contended that the law did not apply to prosecutions which failed to show evidence of the elements of commercialized vice.

Caminetti, son of the commissioner-general of immigration faces a fine of $1,500 and eighteen months imprisonment in San Quentin. Diggs formerly architect for the state of California, was fined $2,000 and sentenced to two years in prison.

MISS POTTER WALKS INTO HOME OF MRS. DURAND

Chicago, June 21.—Miss Grace Stewart Potter, concert pianist, protégée of Mrs. George M. Pullman, who vanished a week ago Sunday morning and who the police feared might have been drowned, walked in to the home of Mrs. Scott Durand in Lake Bluff tonight.

A maid in the Durand home telephoned the suburban police that Miss Potter was "all right," asked that her friends be notified then gave orders that the Durand telephone was not to be called.

War News Summarized

The Austro-German net seemingly is being drawn closer and closer to Lemberg, the capital of Galicia. Already its meshes are about it on the northern, western and southern fronts and with the Russians almost everywhere reported to be in retreat. General Von Mackensen's promise to recapture the city before July 1st, may be fulfilled. Rawaruska, some thirty miles to the northwest, Zolkiew, 18 miles to the north, and territory along the Skemierka rivulet a short distance to the south of Lemberg all have been occupied by the Teutonic allies, while other forces of the Teutons are reported to be only nine miles outside the city limits.

Farther to the south, along the southern banks of the Dniester, Grand Duke Nicholas has ordered the Russians to retreat and in the region to the north of Bukovina frontier extending eastward to Bessarabia, Vienna says the Teutons have repulsed strong Russian attacks and inflicted heavy casualties. Continued progress for the French and British on the western front is reported by Paris, although at one point the French line was bent under a heavy bombardment in which asphyxiating projectiles were used. This was on the western border of the Argonne and two companies of Frenchmen were buried in the overturned trenches during the bombardment.

Paris declares however, that a counter-attack enabled the French troops to regain almost the entire extent of their initial positions.

Progress on the heights of the Meuse in Lorraine and in Alsace are claimed by Paris and all the ground taken recently in the sector north of Arras is declared still to be held by the French despite the heavy artillery bombardment and local infantry attacks.

Repulses of the Italians near Preva and in the district northwest of Kerm are reported by Vienna, which also tells of bombardments by Austrian warships of Monopol, Bari and Brindisi.

Fighting, both on land and from the sea is in progress in the Dardanelles region.

LANSING PRACTICALLY DECIDED ON FOR POST

WHITE HOUSE OFFICIALS REFUSE TO MAKE STATEMENT

Secretary of State ad Interim Has Long Talk With Tumulty—President
May Make Appointment Today.

Washington, June 21.—President Wilson was understood tonight to have practically decided on the appointment of Robert Lansing as secretary of state to succeed William Jennings Bryan. It was said in well informed quarters that while the president had not finally made up his mind, it was almost a certainty that Mr. Lansing—counselor and secretary ad interim of the state department—would be given the post.

White house officials refused to make any statement on the subject further than to say that it is still under consideration.

Mr. Lansing was at the white house during the day and had a long talk with Secretary Tumulty. He would not discuss his visit and later left for Hamilton, N. Y., to attend commencement exercises at Colgate University and receive an honorary degree.

As Mr. Lansing will not be present at tomorrow's cabinet meeting it is expected that the selection of the secretary of state will be discussed then. Some of the members of the cabinet are known to favor Mr. Lansing.

May Make Appointment Today.
The president plans to leave here late Wednesday night for New York where he will spend Thursday with Col. R. M. House before going to the "summer white house" at Cornish, N. H. It has been considered likely that he would discuss the question of Mr. Bryan's successor with Colonel House before making an announcement but tonight there was said to be a possibility that the appointment might be made tomorrow.

Colonel House himself has been prominently mentioned for the position and many officials think he could have it if he would accept. He has always refused to accept public office however. It has been pointed out too, that Colonel House is from Texas, and two of the present members of the cabinet, Attorney General Gregory and Postmaster General Burleson, are from the same state.

COURT ANNULS SALE OF OUTPUT OF MINES BY ROAD TO COAL COMPANY

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A contract by which the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad company sold in 1909 the annual output of seven million tons from its anthracite coal mines to the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western coal company, which it had just organized, was annulled today by the supreme court as a violation both of the commodities clause of the Hepburn rail law and of the Sherman anti-trust law.

FEAR REPETITION OF DEMONSTRATION

Every Convict at Joliet
Penitentiary Is Locked
In a Cell

THREATEN CAMPBELL

Prisoner Suspected of Murdering Warden's Wife Is Menaced
By 13,000 Convicts

TO END INQUEST TODAY

JOLIET, Ill., June 21.—Apprehensive of a repetition of the demonstration by 1,600 convicts against Joe Campbell and Walter Edwards, negro convicts, suspected of slaying the wife of Edmund Allen, warden of the state penitentiary here, prison officials saw that each convict was locked in his cell tonight and special pains were taken to prevent any outbreak. Even the trustees were locked up, for the first time in the history of the prison, and all privileges to any inmates have been suspended.

Convicts Shout Threats.
In spite of the watchfulness of the day guard, 1,300 convicts rose in the main dining hall while at mid-day dinner and should threats against Campbell, then the only suspect. One hundred guards rushed to the convicts and with clubs quieted the uproar.

Tonight there is suppressed excitement in the prison and old guards said the whisper had gone from cell to cell by the noisier underground system of communication, to punish the negroes whose alleged crime jeopardizes the "honor system" which has been in operation in the prison and had stopped, temporarily at least, all privileges which have been extended as rewards of merit.

The coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Allen, a former light opera singer, whose charred body was found yesterday morning after a fire had destroyed the bed in which she slept in the warden's apartments in the prison, occupied most of the day and will be continued tomorrow.

Captain P. D. Clarkson, a guard, testified that Campbell, a house servant, and Edwards, a trusty who served as their waiter, had both changed clothes immediately after the fire. Campbell after a long questioning in the solitary cell where he is confined, admitted this.

Found Campbell Dressing.
Michael Kane, a guard, also testified he had come upon Campbell dressing in an ante-room of Mrs. Allen's apartments right after the body had been found.

Miss Anna Emery, house-keeper, testified that the alcohol jug, fragments of which were found in the ruins of Mrs. Allen's bedroom, had been kept in a closet in an adjoining linen room.

Both Campbell and Edwards had access to the linen room, she said.

M. P. Evans, of the Chicago police has obtained finger prints from the water bottle and from Campbell and Edwards and will probably testify before the coroner's jury tomorrow.

Coroner William C. Wundelich said he expected the inquest to be ended tomorrow.

Still Maintains "Honor System."
Warden Allen assembled the 1,700 convicts in the great dining hall tonight and in a note which his brother James read the prisoners, begged them to stand by him in his faith in the "honor system" which he told them he still maintained.

The Rev. Peter Crumley, Roman Catholic chaplain, also addressed the convicts and urged them to keep quiet and abandon their plan to wreak vengeance on Campbell.

Campbell, who has stood upright in a solitary cell without food, water or sleep since Sunday morning, will be taken out tonight and subjected to another quizzing by penitentiary officials who hope to extract a confession before he appears as a witness at the inquest tomorrow.

Burned to Death.
Campbell is one of the five trusted convicts who had access to the warden's apartments. Officials believe Mrs. Allen was burned to death as she lay unconscious on her bed, as her skull had been fractured by a blow which, physicians said, had not caused her death. Evidence already gathered indicated that the slayer had sprinkled the bedding and Mrs. Allen's night clothing with alcohol before touching a match to it.

The fire, which practically was confined to the bed in the spacious living room of the warden's apartments, apparently had burned for several minutes before it was discovered. Warden Allen was in West Baden, Ind., when the murder was committed. He was to be joined by Mrs. Allen today.

Mrs. Allen's night clothes and the bed clothes burned so fiercely that

GEN. ANGELES ARRIVES IN THE UNITED STATES

VILLA SPOKESMEN INTIMATE HE IS TO DISCUSS PEACE PLANS

Reports of Friction Between Carranza and Obregon Persist, Despite Denials—Officials Expect Angeles in Washington Soon.

Washington, June 21.—The unexpected arrival in the United States of General Felipe Angeles, who has been Villa's military expert since the split in the Mexican constitutionalists movement; and persistent reports, despite denials of friction between General Carranza and his field leader Obregon have given rise to speculation in official circles here as to whether certain elements in the contending factions are about to inaugurate a definite movement to bring about peace in Mexico as urged by President Wilson in his recent statement.

To Discuss Peace Plans?
Although disclaiming any official knowledge, Villa's spokesmen intimate that Angeles has been commissioned to discuss peace plans with the Washington government and that some of the leading supporters of General Carranza, including Obregon and members of Carranza's cabinet whose resignations have been accepted, were cognizant of efforts to be made for a solution of Mexican difficulties.

Carranza Denies Reports.
General Carranza, who has thus far declined to accept Villa's offer for a conference to devise a plan for re-establishment of constitutional government, formally notified his Washington representative today that reports of a break between himself and Obregon were without foundation.

The resignation from the Carranza cabinet of Raphael Zubaran, Jesus Uruteta and Escudero Verdugo, friends of Obregon, were regarded in official quarters as particularly significant, in view of Carranza's refusal to consider Villa's appeal for a conference.

Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz reported to the state department that Carranza had accepted these resignations, together with that of Luis Cabrera, minister of finance. Carranza's agents however, insisted that the general had not accepted Cabrera's resignation and that he had assured them Cabrera would remain in the cabinet.

Expect Angeles in Washington.
Advices to the department regarding General Angeles stated he had come to the United States to visit his family. Department officials had no hesitancy though, in saying that they expected the Villa chieftain to come to Washington in the near future.

Washington officials still view the Yaqui uprising and perils of foreigners in the Yaqui Valley with considerable concern and were awaiting reports from Rear-Admiral Howard, who arrived at Guaymas yesterday on his flagship Colorado, to afford protection to foreigners in the valley.

Mrs. Angeles Effects Report.
Boston, June 21.—Mrs. Felipe Angeles, wife of General Angeles of Villa forces who is now in this country said tonight that she felt certain that there was no truth in the report that her husband had broken with General Villa.

"He is probably coming to try to gain support in the United States for General Villa's party. You know the chief has used his services on diplomatic affairs frequently," she said. Mrs. Angeles and her three children have been living in an apartment in the back bay section of this city for several months.

SALE OF WABASH RAILROAD AT AUCTION IS POSTPONED TO JULY 8

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—Attorneys for the Wabash railroad announced tonight that the sale of the road at auction which has been set for June 23rd, as been postponed to July 8th. The postponement was asked by the Equitable Trust company of New York, trustees of a mortgage on the road. No reason for the postponement has been made public.

Formal announcement of the new date of sale will be made by local court officials on the date originally set for the sale. It is understood in railroad circles here that the sale of the Wabash will be in the initial step in the actual re-organization of the road.

HEAR BAKERY TRUST EVIDENCE

St. Louis, Mo., June 21.—The taking of testimony in the anti-trust inquiry instituted by the attorney general against the American Baking Company of St. Louis, began here today, before Special Commissioner Lamm. It is charged that the baking company was formed of seven concerns and that it has operated to drive out all competition and controls about 75 per cent of the output of bread in its territory.

the department could make no impression on the flames, which burned themselves out in half an hour. The firemen prevented the blaze from extending beyond the bed, and by the time the Joliet fire department arrived the flames had burned themselves out.

URGE APPROVAL AND VETO OF MEASURES

Dunne Receives Many Messages Pressing Action on Bills Passed

MAY ARRANGE HEARINGS

Most of Telegrams Protest Against Approval of Recognition of Practice of Optometry

LUCEY APPROVES SEVEN BILLS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 21.—Telegrams and letters urging both the approval and the veto of various measures passed by the recent general assembly began pouring in upon Governor Dunne today. (While nothing definite was done by the executive, inasmuch as none of the bills regarding which he was communicated with have reached him yet, it is likely that several hearings will be arranged later in the week, at which person particularly interested in certain measures will be given opportunities to state their cases.)

Public Hearing Is Likely.
Most of the telegrams received by the governor today were in the form of protests against his approval of the bill recognizing the practice of optometry and creating a board of examiners to license and supervise optometrists. Members of the medical profession protested before legislative committees against the passage of the bill, contending that an alleged optometrist is little more than a dealer in spectacles and that his recognition by the state would give persons a confidence in his ability to treat the eyes which his skill and training do not warrant. It is likely that a public hearing will be had upon this bill.

Communications both favoring and opposing the approval of the Cook county judges' salary bill were received by Governor Dunne. The bill makes it possible for the circuit and superior judges of Cook county to receive $12,000 a year salary which would be $2,000 a year more than the supreme justices of the state are paid.

Legal Point Involved.
Some of the judges interested in the bill have asked to be heard upon it before the governor acts. A fine legal point is involved in this bill, the question being whether the judges elected before this bill was passed, but not yet having qualified, would be entitled to the increase contemplated by the bill.

Another bill in which outside interest was shown was Sen. Bailey's bill changing the method of paying fees by public utility corporations for incorporation, re-incorporation, issuing securities, etc.

Figures laid before Governor Dunne indicated that if the bill becomes effective something like $400,000 a year in revenue would be lost to the state.

Lucey Approves Seven Bills.
The thirteen bills signed yesterday by both Speaker Shanahan and Lieutenant Governor O'Hara were turned over to Attorney General Lucey today for examination as to their physical form. Seven of them were approved of and returned to Governor Dunne, along with the injunction and abatement bill of the Chicago anti-vice crusaders, which was passed early last week.

Word was received this afternoon that illness of Mrs. O'Hara in Chicago will keep the lieutenant governor from returning to the capital tomorrow as he had intended. Upon receipt of the information his private secretary, Robert Clark, left for Chicago, taking with him a number of bills which it is expected the lieutenant governor will pass upon and sign in Chicago.

The governor will not pass on any bills before tomorrow.

The Pathway to Excellence.

When W. J. Bryan became secretary of state he leased Mrs. John A. Logan's beautiful Washington home for four years. Now he is trying to transfer the lease and is packing up preparatory to leaving for the south. Among the most cherished of his possessions and which has occupied a conspicuous place in the home, a Washington dispatch says, is a motto which reads "God has put sweat in the pathway of excellence." The former secretary has had this motto for many years and has often referred to it in conversation and in addresses.

Doubtless its homely and forceful phraseology has had much to do with shaping his life for even his critics must admit that he has always been an untiring worker.

The Honor System.

If the murder of Mrs. Allen, wife of the warden of Joliet is fastened upon one of the inmates it means an end of the honor system among convicts there at least for sometime to come. This fact was no doubt recognized by the prisoners when they made an effort yesterday to lynch a suspect.

In a number of state penitentiaries the honor system has shown satisfactory results and has been considered a humanitarian system, tending to improve the morals of prisoners and to give them more of a chance of gaining real character. Yet the system is beset with danger since so many of those who must come within its workings are degenerate or have such bad antecedents that there constantly remains a lurking tendency to crime. There are notable instances of criminals who have seemingly been permanently reformed by the honor system yet a happening like that at Joliet makes one wonder if after all sentiment and sympathy do not sometimes get the better of judgment.

Reimbursing Liquor Interests.

In the final week of the Illinois general assembly work the bill which proposed reimbursement to liquor interests where local option was voted in died in committee. The measure was supported by the vest interests in the legislature and it was considered that its adoption would be a forceful weapon in combating the further spread of local option sentiment. The theory upon which the proposition was made was somewhat similar to that in force in Canada, although there is a very essential difference.

Some time ago a law became effective in both Montreal and Quebec whereby it was determined to lessen the number of licenses issued for liquor selling. There the licenses are issued practically altogether to hotels, restaurants and clubs. In Quebec the number was reduced in such a way that 47 such licenses would be revoked and in Montreal the first year the measure was in effect 70 licenses would go out. It was further provided that from the general tax fund that a payment varying from $3,000 to $5,000 was to be made to each person whose license was revoked as compensation for damage done to the business.

Thus far the proceeding was some what like that proposed by the suggested Illinois statute, but the difference is in the fact that in Quebec and Montreal not all licenses were revoked and the amounts paid as damages for licenses taken up were added to the charge for the licenses allowed to remain in force. Thus the people as a whole did not pay the amount of money refunded. The particular interest, however, about the Canadian ruling is the evidence of the wide-spread feeling that more and more control must be placed upon the liquor business.

Sunday as "Big Business" Tool.

About the latest charge made against Evangelist Billy Sunday is that he is a tool of special privilege. George Creel, writing in the current number of Harper's Weekly, brings this new allegation against the evangelist, who has already been charged with almost everything else. The author of the article goes on to detail that Sunday was sent by capital into the strike-ridden district of Colorado, that later capital took him to Philadelphia, and afterward to Elizabeth, N. J. The purpose, Mr. Creel insists, was part of a deep-laid design on the part of wealthy mine owners, manufacturers and business men to detract attention from labor troubles and to fix the gaze rather on religious matters, to their own advantage.

It is charged that in each of the revival campaigns mentioned that Sunday made war to the death upon liquor as being the real basis for all the trouble and for the misery among the workers, and Mr. Creel declares that the evangelist ignored the unfair labor conditions which were really at the bottom of the strike in one locality and of the social unrest in the others. Yet with all his charges and argument, that Sunday has become the instrument of special privilege as opposed to the rights of the workers, Mr. Creel does not impugn the evangelist's motives but says his sincerity is not to be questioned, and charges him rather with having only a child's mind when it comes to questions theological and religious. The whole article is interesting but will not carry convincing weight to the average observer of Sunday's work in the evangelistic field. The writer charges also that the religious forward movement was also put forward by the capitalist in order to teach principles of peace and submission as opposed to assertiveness.

Cutting Out Hard Drinks.

And speaking of the liquor question, when in Chicago a few weeks ago an alderman proposed an ordinance which would permit the sale only of malt and vinous liquors and thus put a ban upon all spirituous beverages, there was not enough support to make the proposition effective. Nevertheless in a recent editorial the Chicago Tribune advocates a similar proposition.

The Tribune during recent months has shown a decided tendency toward dry principles and repeatedly during the deadlock in the Illinois legislature early in the year charged that the deadlock was due to the desire of the liquor interests to dominate the assembly. The Tribune now says that on account of natural tendency there is in man to turn to some sort of a beverage for refreshment or stimulation, that it is doubtful if total prohibition would have immediate beneficial results but that there can be no doubt as to the benefits there would be from the banishing of whiskey, gin and all other spirituous liquors. The point is emphasized that while beer and wine cannot be especially advocated, that certainly their use as substitutes for the so-called hard liquors would be greatly beneficial. The evil results from the use of malt and vinous liquors are small, indeed, by comparison with the evil results and the poverty which follow in the wake of the continued use of whiskey and allied drinks.

Some writer not long since pointed out that notwithstanding all the agitation there had been in the last year against the use of liquor, that the revenue receipts indicated that the per capita consumption of liquor had been greater the past year than the year previous. But this commentator overlooked the fact that while the revenues have increased, that there has been a marked decline in the consumption of whiskey and gin and an increase in the use of malt liquors.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS.

Ypsilanti, Mich.—Prof. Julia Anne King, 80 years old, delivered the baccalaureate sermon last evening to the graduating class of the Michigan State Normal College. The aged educator still gives lectures as professor emerita, after serving as professor since 1881.

New York—The breach in the suffrage ranks is widening. The conservatives have resented the methods employed by the Congressional Union. Letters in very firm language have passed between the two wings of the party. No open break is noticeable in some of the states of the east, but in New York open opposition is manifested. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, leader of the National Woman Suffrage Association, went so far as to demand of Miss Alice Paul of the Congressional Union, her withdrawal from New York State while the National Association was conducting its campaign here. Leaders of the National Association deny any alliance with the Congressional Union, although a number of prominent women hold membership in both.

Montreal, Que.—The Montreal Women's Rifle Association is the name chosen for the new organization formed in this city to enable women to learn to shoot. The government has promised to supply rifles.

Tokio—When Emperor Yoshihito is crowned next fall, it is probable that the Empress will not attend, for the stork is expected at the Imperial castle. The Empress has three children, all boys, the eldest of whom recently celebrated his fifteenth birthday.

Toronto—Louisa Marksfield, 19, who has been held in jail here for a week, and who is reported to have admitted she was a German spy, will be interned until the end of the war, it is expected. The girl speaks many languages. It is charged that she has made her headquarters in Ontario and has assisted German reservists to cross the border into the United States. It is also said she visited the military camps and gained an extensive knowledge of all preparations and war supplies in the Dominion.

London—At Harper Adams College, there are now 31 women training for agriculture. A report on the work done is favorable, and other colleges for the training of women for this service as an adjunct of war service are to be begun. The class is taught dairying, poultry keeping, horticulture, stock feeding and tending and general farm work. The women show enthusiasm, energy and capacity for work.

Oakland, Calif.—Wives of the state and foreign commissioners to the exposition are today the guests of the Woman's Board of the Exposition, at a luncheon here. The luncheon will be followed by an auto trip and tea.

New York—The New York branch of the Woman's Trades Union league is making headway in its project to build a Labor Temple in this city. The fund is fast gaining size, although it was begun only ten days ago, when the delegates contributed a nickel each.

London—Although women complain that medals and decorations are confined to the sterner sex, it is a fact that many decorations are won by women. The Imperial Service Order, founded by the late King Edward, is bestowed upon women for conspicuous bravery. It is one of the most coveted decorations that a woman can wear, rivaling the Carnegie medals for life-saving in America. The Order of the Royal Red Cross is another distinction reserved for women only. It is given for merit and valor displayed in nursing, particularly army and navy nursing. The Order of St. John of Jerusalem bearing the words "For service in the cause of humanity" can also be won by women. The Order of Merit, founded by King Edward, is bestowed on men and women who have gained distinction in literature, art, science, or any of the peaceful, as distinguished from the war, services. Up to the present, Florence Nightingale was the only recipient.

Queen Victoria founded the Royal Order of Victoria and Albert, reserved for the ladies of European royal households. The French Cross of the Legion of Honor has been bestowed on women. The order of St. Catherine, in Russia, is a woman's distinction, while Spain, Turkey and the Vatican bestow medals and distinctions on womanhood.

PRES. WILSON OPENS PAGEANT.

Lexington, Mass., June 21.—President Wilson at the White House tonight pressed a button that will flash a signal over the wires that will open the great pageant of Lexington to commemorate the century of peace between the United States and Great Britain. For several years preparations have been going on for the big pageant. The creation of nature will open the huge spectacle, then will come the Indians, the first settlers, the dawn of American liberty and the arrival of Paul Revere. The battle of Lexington will be reproduced, then the peace features follow. The closing episode is a tableau, the stars and stripes, freedom now and forever. The scenic effects are marvelous, and all the features have been carefully rehearsed. Tonight it is president's night. Tomorrow is governor's night, when all the governors of the thirteen original states are expected. A third performance will be given on Wednesday night.

MEDICOS AT FRISCO.

San Francisco, Cal., June 21.—The annual convention of the American Medical Association, which will open here today, will bring to the Exposition the leading doctors of the country, for a week's discussion of medical matters, and for clinics and demonstrations on a wider scale than ever before held. Representatives of the entire 48 state bodies allied in the association are present.

Rent Houses Wanted

There has never been a time when desirable rent houses, $7.50 to $25, were scarcer at Johnston Agency than they are today. Our facilities for securing the right renter for the right house are good. Being the only agency in the city making a specialty of this business, a constant stream of applicants pours through our office. We know what is due to tenants in the way of repairs, and our tenants stay. On the other hand, we collect all rents in advance, and we do not, upon the average, lose a full month's rent upon one house a year.

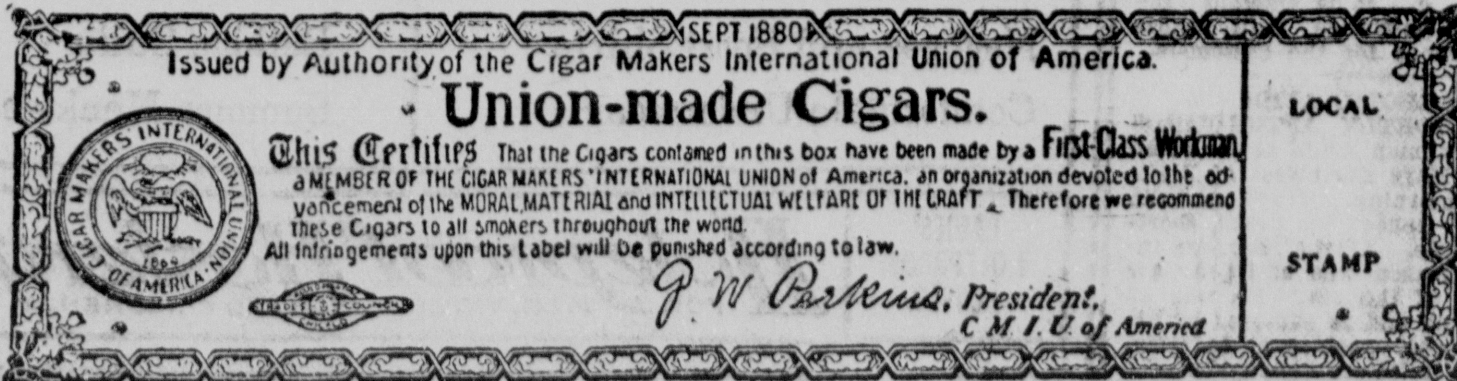

Landlords—We think you will find it profitable, and save yourselves a great amount of trouble, if you will let us attend to your rentals. We have made a science of it. And we respectfully solicit your business.

I treat successfully the cases I undertake and accept no fee from those who are incurable. That is why I continue my visits year after year, while other specialists make only a few visits and cease to return.

Have you kidney or bladder trouble, large or weak back, pains in back or limbs? Have you any blood disease—scrofula, skin eruptions, pimples, bone pains, pale complexion and losing weight?

I invite you to call and investigate the Carson System of the treatment of Chronic Diseases, which I have perfected after fifteen years of experience and study, and you will be convinced that my modern, up to date method of curing disease are what you need.

Experience makes perfect. Having treated hundreds of old chronic stomach troubles for the last fifteen years, I can relieve a great majority of these cases and restore them to health and strength again, especially in those cases who suffer from the effects of pain in the stomach and bowels, bloating, gas, spitting up of food, sour stomach, headache, dizziness, loss of appetite, drowsiness, and heavy, bad feeling in the head.

MRS. EDWARD LANDRETH ATTEMPTED TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Shot Self in Head With Small Revolver at West Lafayette Avenue Home—Wound Not Serious—Family Troubles the Cause.

Mrs. Eva Landreth, wife of Edward Landreth of 1123 West Lafayette avenue, attempted suicide about 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning by shooting herself in the head with a .22 calibre revolver. Mrs. Landreth had gotten breakfast for her husband and then went upstairs to her bedroom and made the attempt on her life. Her husband called Dr. W. P. Duncan who went to the residence and when he found the nature of the wound, with the assistance of Landreth removed her to Passavant hospital. Examination showed that she had held the revolver close to the top of her head on the right side. The bullet pierced the flesh to the skull and followed the skull across the top of the head. While the wound bled profusely it is not serious.

Warrant Sworn Out.

The shooting had an air of mystery about it and shortly after it occurred Mrs. Landreth's father, Thomas Waggoner, went to the jail and notified Sheriff Graff. The police also had been notified. Mr. Waggoner was of the opinion that Landreth had attempted to kill his wife. He swore out a warrant for Landreth charging assault with intent to kill. Sheriff Graff and Deputy Sheriff Norris accompanied by Policeman Eads went to the Landreth residence to arrest him.

When they arrived they found that he had gone to the hospital with his wife. He was later arrested and went before Justice Dyer and gave bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance. Joseph Benson was surety for Landreth.

Husband Tells Story.

When seen by a reporter for the Journal, Landreth was willing to give his version of the affair. He said that when he got up he found his wife already up and that she had breakfast prepared. This so far as he could judge was about 6 o'clock. On Saturday he had given his wife $21 in bills. As he was getting ready to leave the house he told his wife that he had some repair work to do on his car and probably would not be at home for dinner and she had better arrange to go to her sister, Mrs. Waterfield's, for dinner. As he was leaving his wife said that she did not like to leave the money in the house and that he had better take it. Landreth said he took the money and his wife went up stairs and as he went back in the house looking for a place to hide it. He walked through the parlor and sitting room and into the dining room but did not see a suitable place. He then took out his pocketbook and was putting the money in it, meanwhile walking out into the hall.

According to his story when he reached the hall his wife called out to him "haven't you gone yet?" To which he replied that he was just leaving. He says that she then said, "Well goodbye." He heard the shot and hastened up stairs and found his wife lying on the bed with blood running from her head.

Mr. Landreth said he carried his wife down stairs and placed her in a rocking chair and then telephoned for Dr. Duncan. While he was telephoning she got up and went back upstairs. He told his boy, Russell, to follow her. When he got through telephoning he ran up stairs and found his son struggling with his mother who was trying to get the revolver again. He secured the revolver and put it in his pocket. Shortly afterward Dr. Duncan arrived and they took Mrs. Landreth to the hospital in a r. Duncan's car.

Has Been Melancholy.

Landreth said that his wife had not been herself for some time. During the last few days she has been melancholy. This condition probably has been caused from family troubles. Mrs. Landreth who is a daughter of Thomas Waggoner, it is said, has worried more or less over Waggoner family affairs. It also is said that her son Russell recently got into trouble and this has weighed on her mind. Various reports are circulated of attempts on the part of Mr. Waggoner to cause trouble between Landreth and his wife, but last night Mr. Waggoner stated that such stories were wholly false and that he had always urged Mrs. Landreth to stay with her husband no matter what their differences.

Landreth Driver of Jitney Bus. Landreth who owns an automobile, was one of the first to start the operation of a jitney bus. This he has been running and apparently was doing well. He owns a farm of 200 acres near Lynnville and the house on West Lafayette avenue where the family lives.

CHEER REPORTS OF STEPS TO STOP FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING

Lieut. Gov. O'Hara Welcomes Delegates to Convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Chicago, June 21.—Reports of the steps taken by the state of Illinois to prevent fraudulent advertising were cheered by the delegates to the eleventh annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World which opened today. Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara welcomed the delegates in behalf of Governor Dunne and told of legislation to regulate advertising the sentiment for advertising "honesty" was the dominant note of the day's proceedings. One of the bills the lieutenant governor discussed misrepresentations in the matter of price marks. Another concerns the coupon system in attracting trade. A greeting from the advertising men was sent to Louis Victor Eytinge, now serving a life sentence in the Arizona penitentiary at Florence. A resolution introduced by George W. Coleman was adopted, urging the parole board of Arizona to give Eytinge his liberty. Eytinge it was urged, has, in the eight years he has been within the penitentiary walls on a life sentence, completely rehabilitated himself, physically, mentally and morally and by the intrinsic merit of the advertising work he has sent out from within the prison walls has made himself a figure in the world of advertising.

Making Over a Rhode Island Farm By Western Methods

The following very interesting story taken from the Providence, R. I., Journal tells how a Morgan county boy is transforming an abandoned Rhode Island farm by the use of western farming methods. Mr. Rawlings is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rawlings of the Franklin neighborhood and who lived on West North street for several years. Roy Rawlings purchased a thousand acre tract in Rhode Island for $5,000 and even at that price was advised that he was paying too much. Time is showing the wisdom of his choice. The Providence Journal has a two page article about the farm profusely illustrated with half tones, in several of which Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings and their little son appear. The very interesting story is in part as follows:

Upon a thousand-acre farm that has been lying idle and uncultivated for more than a decade in the heart of the South county, Roy Rawlings, a youthful practical farmer from southern Illinois, has well under way an apparently successful experiment of Westernizing the Rhode Island farm. Taking a leaf from his boyhood experience in the great corn belt the young man has plunged boldly into the task of reclaiming an extensive area of brush covered land in the town of Richmond and through western methods, western implements, western enterprise and western determination, coupled with the aid and practical encouragement of a plucky Rhode Island helpmate, he is rapidly building up the largest one-man farm in the State.

With an expenditure of less than $50 for outside farm labor last year Mr. Rawlings raised 2500 bushels of corn; cleared upward of a dozen acres of rough brush covered land; materially improved the farm buildings; added half a hundred sheep to his flock, and has increased the value of his property more than 100 per cent over the price paid for it two and a half years ago.

All of this has been accomplished by his own labor with the enthusiastic co-operation of Mrs. Rawlings, who has done her own housework, grown all the vegetables for the table, repaired and decorated a considerable part of the interior of the house and has performed dozens of other time-consuming odd jobs within and without doors in order that her husband might devote every possible moment to the main crops.

By the use of machinery and following the practice of enterprising farmers in the middle west Mr. Rawlings produced as much corn as would be grown and harvested by five or six men using typical New England methods of farming, and he is now firmly convinced that the much despised and comparatively cheap farm land of Rhode Island offers better opportunities and greater profits to the man who knows farming and is willing to work than are to be found in the corn belt which has a national reputation for productivity.

Although reared in an agricultural community Mr. Rawlings' determination to adopt farming as a career is a comparatively recent decision. Born near Jacksonville, Ill., on Mar. 8, 1883, of a family which had inherited Government grants of land from maternal and paternal ancestry his environment was such that he seemed destined to become a farmer. As a school boy he took an active interest in agriculture. When free from his studies he assisted his father in planting and cultivating corn but found much greater pleasure in taking part in church and other entertainments than he did in tilling the soil.

Like many another youth, he chafed under the restraint of his environment. His natural ability as a reader made his popular with rural audiences and before he finished his grammar school studies he determined to escape what appeared to him as a humdrum bucolic existence by adopting the stage as a profession.

From the time he was 15 years old, his education was that of the prospective actor. He completed his college preparatory course at Illinois college in 1901. A year later he entered De Pauw college and, in conjunction with his studies there, also took a course of training at the Emerson School of Oratory. He was graduated from the latter institution in 1907. A year later he received his sheep skin from De Pauw.

Immediately after completing his college course and professional training, he became juvenile of William A. Brady's company, playing "Honest Abe" and soon won a high place in the opinions of theatregoers of large western cities.

The leading woman in the company to which Mr. Rawlings was assigned was Miss Irene Gammell, a native of Providence. After being graduated from the Classical high school in this city in 1906, Miss Gammell had entered the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, New York. There she had become a general favorite. Her realistic portrayal of the parts to which she was assigned won the admiration of the late Charles Frohman, who, on several occasions, predicted for her a brilliant stage career. The association of Mr. Rawlings and Miss Gammell in stage life resulted in their marriage.

But shortly after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings discovered that each was harboring a common conviction. The glamour of the footlights was losing its brilliancy and after comparing notes in a heart-to-heart talk they mutually agreed that the atmosphere of the stage was by no means ideal for young married people with whom a home and all that it means had become of greater importance than all the plaudits of theatregoers and complimentary notices of dramatic critics.

They selected a farm romance for their big play because farming was one of the things off the stage which Mr. Rawlings could do well. His wife, with the characteristic pluck of the early emigrants of her native state, signified her willingness to learn. The autumn of 1910 found them joint proprietors of a new company in which he as leading man was the superintendent of his father's 300-acre farm, while she continued to play the role of leading woman, as housekeeper, farmwife and general factotum in the domestic affairs of her western home.

The neighboring residents of Wyoming, Carolina and other villages took more than a mere passive interest in the newcomers and their farm.

"What are you going to do with it?" they inquired.

"Grow corn and raise sheep on all the land that is clear. Clean up as much more as I can and grow more corn," answered Mr. Rawlings.

"Grow 20 acres of corn? How are you going to plant it? You don't know local conditions. You can't get enough men to plow and plant 20 acres and if you could the cost of labor would be so great that you'd lose all your profit."

"Don't intend to look for men to do the work. Horse labor where I come from was regarded as cheap and effective. I'll try that here and plow and plant it myself."

But a week or two later some one dropped into the village store with the report that hitched three abreast the light horses of the new owner of the Lillibridge farm had whisked a sulky plow over the land as frisky as a jack rabbit and that the westerner had already begun to plant the field with a machine that made a noise like a guinea hen's cry of distress and was tied to one side of the field with a telegraph wire.

The full significance of the machine and its trailing strand of wire was not fully appreciated by the natives until long after the corn came up. The weeder and cultivator drawn by the light nimble horses solved another labor problem and kept the field covered with a dust mulch which retained the moisture. Then it was discovered that by using the corn planter the hills of corn stood equidistant from each other and formed rows which ran not only lengthwise of the field but also across and diagonally as well. Hence the corn could be cultivated up and down, across and on the bias. The westerner in keeping the soil friable was thus enabled to sit lazy-man's fashion on the comfortable spring seat of a machine which he drove over the field while his neighbors were perspiring and raising blisters in the back-breaking task of hoeing.

When the corn matured Farmer Rawlings caused considerable surprise by adopting an ancient Rhode Island custom in "topping" the corn. Every stalk was cut off just above the ears before it became ripe. The part cut off was cured to be used as fodder and the remainder of the stalks, bearing the ears of corn, was left standing in the field.

These decapitated stalks were permitted to stand until the corn had ripened. Then instead of cutting and shocking the corn and later removing and husking the corn in accordance with Rhode Island custom he placed high sideboards on a farm wagon, drove it into the field through the rows of corn, deftly removed the ears from the protecting husks which were left on the stalks and tossed them into the wagon. In this way he husked 80 bushels a day. A hired man following the old New England method would regard seven or eight bushels as an excellent day's work.

The needed improvements to the house and farm buildings, cutting off brush from land that was to be brought under cultivation the next spring and in doing the thousand and one other things which the purchaser of the long neglected farm will find awaiting his attention.

The programme followed last year was practically a repetition of that of 1913. The skirmish line of the brush was pushed a little farther back, adding ten or a dozen acres to the cultivated area. His total production of corn last year was 2500 bushels. Last fall and winter 10 acres more were cleared and he plans ultimately to have sufficient tillable land to enable him to permit large sections of it to remain idle in clover crops and thus solve the Rhode Island farmer's most serious problem, that of fertilizing the land.

Since assuming her new role of mistress of Rhode Island's largest one-man farm, Mrs. Rawlings has accomplished feats which would make many a more robust woman sit up and take notice.

According to the natives of Richmond, who profess to be well informed of the domestic affairs of the newly named "Lilly Bridge" farm, the former Providence girl is the luckiest young woman in the entire State. That the newcomers are bound to win out, is now pretty generally admitted, even among former sceptics, and in doing so, they positively assert, quite as much of the credit will be due to the Rhode Island woman, who rolled up her sleeves and demonstrated that she was not afraid of hard work, as to the muscular Western cowpuncher, who came east, to beat the Rhode Island farmer at his own game, in his own back yard.

This opinion, as far as Mr. Rawlings is concerned, is shared by her husband. "Don't go away with the impression that I am a genius; I know I'm not," he said, as the Sunday Journal reporter was leaving the farm. "I haven't got the world by

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

London, June 21.—Major Lumsden of the Royal army flying corps was killed this afternoon while flying over the Brooklands aviation course.

Major Harry T. Lumsden was making a flight as a passenger on a trial test. The aeroplane had reached an altitude of two hundred feet when the engine went wrong and the machine dived earthwards and was smashed. Major Lumsden was so badly injured that he died in a few hours but the injuries of the pilot were not serious.

Constantinople, via Lonon, June 21.—The following official communication was issued today:

"On the Dardanelles front, at Avli Burnu, nothing of importance occurred on June 18th or June 19. An armored ship, protected by nine torpedo boats and seven mine sweepers appeared before Seddul Bahr and bombarded our coast batteries on the Asiatic shore. The armored ship retired under protection, to Lemnos.

"A weak attack against the center of our southern trips at Seddul Bahr was repulsed on June 19th with losses.

"Our coast batteries successfully bombarded some columns of artillery and an enemy transport vessel as well as infantry retiring under the violent fire of our European batteries, our Asiatic batteries also bombarded enemy columns on their way to a new position.

"An air craft shed was shelled causing a fire which destroyed several aircraft. Enemy airmen flew over our Asiatic batteries dropping eight bombs without success."

Austrian headquarters, via London, June 21.—The details of one of the most audacious achievements of the war—the capture of a Russian general, a colonel and almost four hundred men by a little squad of Austrian prisoners—has reached here.

The chief actor in the event was Lieutenant Von Pindter, the commander of a patrol of Landwehr and Uhlands, who was captured by Cossacks while scouting in the rear of the retreating Russians after the battle of Tarnow in May.

The Russians cavalry brigade to which the Cossacks belonged was continuing its retirement with Von Pindter and the other Austrian prisoners when it came under the fire of Austrian artillery. Von Pindter it is said, took advantage of the ensuing confusion and armed himself and six other prisoners with Russian rifles and ordered the general to surrender and made him and a colonel and ten other officers and 382 men prisoners and captured fifteen guns, a number of horses and carts of the transport column. With the assistance of an Austrian machine gun detachment which arrived later, Von Pindter, it is asserted, took his prisoners and booty to the rear and turned them over to the corps headquarters.

Berlin, June 21, via London.—The rapidity of the Austro-German successes excites astonishment here. It was believed that the Russians would be able to check the allies' advance for some days on the Grodek line; hence the bulletins issued today recorded results far exceeding the expectations of the most optimistic observers.

Special despatches from the front described the Russian retreat eastward from Grodek and the Russian resistance from the Taney river to the mouth of the Wereszyca. Scouts report that the Russians have fallen back upon their last line of defenses protecting Lemberg, which is nine miles west of the city limits.

The situation at Lemberg is evidently precarious as General Von Mackensen today seized the railway between Lemberg and Rawaruska which is the main line of travel northward. This, it is considered, gives the Russians the alternative of preparing for speedy evacuation or of trying to hold the city, with the risk of being enveloped by Von Mackensen's army sweeping around southeastward and forming a junction with General Linsenger's forces.

Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander-in-chief, apparently has begun to realize the threatening dangers, for he has ordered the withdrawal of all Russian forces from the south bank of the Dniester.

Military opinion here is that he cannot extricate his huge armies without heavy losses in men and material.

The military expert of the Lokal Anzeiger declares that the victory in Galicia is complete and expresses the opinion that there is little prospect of the Russian troops west of Lemberg longer offering serious resistance.

CHARGES HUSBAND SHIFTED MEDICINES TO POISON HER.

Owosso, Mich., June 21.—A hearing will be given Charles H. Miller, a real estate dealer, to day on the charge brought by his wife, that he administered bichloride of mercury tablets to her with the intention of killing her. She charges that he substituted the poison tablets for medicine prescribed by the family physician. While ill a few weeks ago, Mrs. Miller telephoned to physician who put up some medicine which her husband delivered. One of the envelopes contained mercury tablets, three of which taken at intervals, made her violently ill. Miller took the envelopes, ostensibly to return them to the doctor. Mrs. Miller asserted, and delivered later to his wife three envelopes bearing the physician's label. One of these envelopes, the police stated, contained more of the poison tablets. The wife later found, in a pocket in her husband's coat, an ordinary envelope containing tablets. These she submitted to the family physician, who declared they were mercury tablets which he never had nor had ever prescribed.

The accused husband insisted he delivered the medicine furnished by the physician and failed to account for the poison tablets in his pocket. The motive on which the police worked was that Miller and his wife have had trouble for a long time, she charging that he was friendly with other women. The authorities have been trying to ascertain where Miller secured the tablets, and the result of their inquiry will be told at the hearing today, it is expected.

Washington, June 21.—Eljah Bishop of Baltimore, who has led the life of a hermit in a little out-of-the-way house in the outskirts of Baltimore, was married here yesterday by Rev. George W. Kates of the National Spiritual Association. His bride was Miss Emma P. Hackler, aged 48, also of Baltimore. The ceremony was performed according to the ritual of the spiritual cult. The hermit is 77 years old, and is a veteran of the Civil War. He declares the secluded life is all wrong, and is now planning to spend some of his fortune having a good time.

When arrested he had a large lead slug shot in his pocket. He gave bond in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for six months in Justice Dyer's court and the case charging assault was continued to June 29.

Women should understand that melancholy, commonly called the "Blues," is in nine times out of ten a pure symptom of some organic derangement which should have attention. For nearly forty years, Lydia E. PHILADELPHIA TAKES TWO GAMES FROM YANKS

FIRST CONTEST GOES TEN INNINGS.

Had Pitching by New York Twirlers Gives Athletics Both Games—Lajoie Makes a Double Play Unassisted.

Philadelphia, June 21.—Bad pitching by the New York twirlers gave Philadelphia two victories. In the first game the home team scored four runs in the fifth inning and made only one hit, a double by Walsh and in the second inning of the closing event secured only two singles and yet tallied five runners. In the eighth inning of the opener, Manager Mack sent in four pinch hitters and when the ninth inning started his line-up was almost completely changed. The score:

BALTIMORE'S HOME RUNS BRING ABOUT DEFEAT OF WHALES

Knabe's Drive With One on Ties Count in Sixth—Zinn Smashes a Homer With the Bases Full in the Seventh.

Baltimore, Md., June 21.—Home runs brought about Chicago's defeat by Baltimore. Knabe's drive over the left field fence with one on tied the count in the sixth inning. In the seventh Duncan was walked purposely filling the bases and Zinn then hit into the right field bleachers.

Baltimore, .000 002 41x—7 8 1

Batteries—Prendergast and Fisher; Bender and Owens.
Kansas City 0; Buffalo 5.

Buffalo, June 21.—The poor support given to Bedient by the local team in the early part of today's game was largely responsible for Kansas City's victory.

Score:
Kansas City .003 040 020—9 11 2
Buffalo . . . 200 000 012—5 12 3

Batteries—Cullop and Easterly; Bedient, Marshall and Blair.

St. Louis 8; Brooklyn 2.

St. Louis, June 21.—St. Louis gave Davenport a five run lead by securing two doubles, two singles and two passes off Seaton in the first inning. Davenport pitched great ball and received errorless support, winning easily.

SCHROEDER TOO MUCH (FOR EAGLE BATSMEN)

Home Team Could not Find Pekin Pitchers' Slow Ball—White Also Very Effective.

One Mr. Schroeder of Pekin clipped the Eagles wings at Nichols park Sunday afternoon. He not only clipped their wings but incidentally he pulled out a few of their plumes. Mr. Schroeder did this with the greatest nonchalance. During the afternoon he didn't get up a sweat but great drops rolled down the faces of the band of Eagles as they tried with might and main to swat the pill. Schroeder just served up a slow float and sometimes the locals ran up to meet it like a colored man grabbing a spring chicken off the roost on a dark night. Then sometimes they did meet it but only to pop it up in the air or roll it weakly to some infielder.

During the afternoon the Eagles got five swats off of Schroeder but no two came in the same inning. One was a double by Christopher who hit to right field and Albrecht misjudged the ball and did not have time to back up on it. At first place this same outfield did not look to be of much class. Mr. Albrecht looked like a well fed sign for a brewery but he belied his looks. He got his lunch hooks on everything that went his way and pulled off some good catches. He had able assistance in H. White in center and Hancock in left. Both were fly chasers of the first water. All told they had a busy day and had an even dozen of the visitors putouts.

The Rainbows infield also had some class. Ryan made two misuses at first but neither was costly. Clay at short also made one out more than atoned for it when he reached up in the air and grabbed Callahan's wild peg with one hand while with the other he reached down and grabbed Arisman around the neck and held him while he tagged him out.

While the visitors were doing all of these unexpected things the Eagles were not loafing on the job. White pitched a game that should have won under almost any other conditions. He allowed the visitors seven safeties all told. He held them safe until the eighth when they got over the solitary run of the game.

In the fatal eighth Clay led off with a fly in short left field. Almost anybody could have got it but Arisman and Christopher got their wires crossed and this caused a short circuit and the ball fell safe. This did cost anything, however, as Charley White caught Clay napping off of first a moment later and he was run down and put out, McCollister to Arisman. Grant then nicked White for a safety. Callahan followed with a short single to center sending Clay to second. He continued on to third when Woodman let the ball get through him and Callahan took second on the throw to the far corner.

Ryan then hit a bouncer to Arisman who pegged to the pan but he was too late to get Grant who scored the only and winning run of the game. A moment later Ryan was pegged out at second while H. White made the third out by whiffing.

The locals got five men to the middle station but could not get by there. In the ninth they made a desperate effort. Woodman fled to H. White. Wheeler went in to bat for McCollister and also fled to H. White as did Smith.

SIX RECRUITED MONDAY NIGHT.
At the weekly drill Monday night six new men were recruited into Co. B. Capt. Owen stated last night that six others had applied but that on account of being under twenty-one years of age the consent of their parents must be secured.

"MORNING GLANCES" (By Gosh)

Christopher had three putouts in left and H. White for the visitors had six in center.

St. Louis walloped Seaton for five runs in the first inning and beat Brooklyn 8 to 2.

Pittsburgh in the National won from the Phillies in a thirteen inning game by a score of 4 to 3.

Clark was right in his pegging Sunday. He nipped a man in the eighth trying to seal second while Callahan stood flat footed at third.

Fugh Bedient lost a game to Kansas City yesterday when his team mates on the Buffalo team failed to give him support. It is tough for Bedient to be on such a team.

The game Sunday was a hard one to lose but the fans, while they wanted to see the home team win will not kick on such baseball as that of Sunday.

The St. Louis Cardinals nosed Philadelphia out of second place by winning Sunday. The Cardinals are beginning to look dangerous.

Washington and Boston in the American divided a double header Monday. Boston used sixteen men in the second game but could not win.

The Detroit Tigers beat the New York Giants in an exhibition game at Toledo Monday by a score of 4 to 3. Cobb ran wild on the bases, besides getting two hits and scoring the tying run in the ninth.

The Rainbows probably will come again in about three weeks. If they do they should be greeted by the largest crowd of the season. They are a gentlemanly lot of players and never made a kick but played ball all the time.

Pekin has some outfield. They did not let many get away. The only way to get one safe was to just get it over the infield. Albrecht made a beautiful catch of a foul fly, while White in Center, went away back and pulled one down that looked good for three bases.

We remarked a week ago that Charles White was some pitcher and that if his team mates would give a couple of runs he would win most of his games. This was demonstrated yesterday. The only trouble was that his mates didn't give him the runs.

Schroeder had the locals on his hip. About all he had was good control. He has just enough speed to protect his slow ball which is a hard one to hit. It would seem that the locals might have won by laying the ball down hard after the fourth inning when they found out they could not hit it safely.

Baltimore beat the Chicago Whales Monday by a score of 7 to 2. Mike Prendergast who used to pitch for Peoria in the Three Eye League was hit hard, two homers being made, one with the bases crowded.

Claude Berry who is doing the bulk of the catching for Pittsburgh in the Federal league used to be up at Cedar Rapids with Belden Hill in the Three Eye. He was there for three years with Harry Berte. He is a great catcher and this seems to be the best year he has ever had.

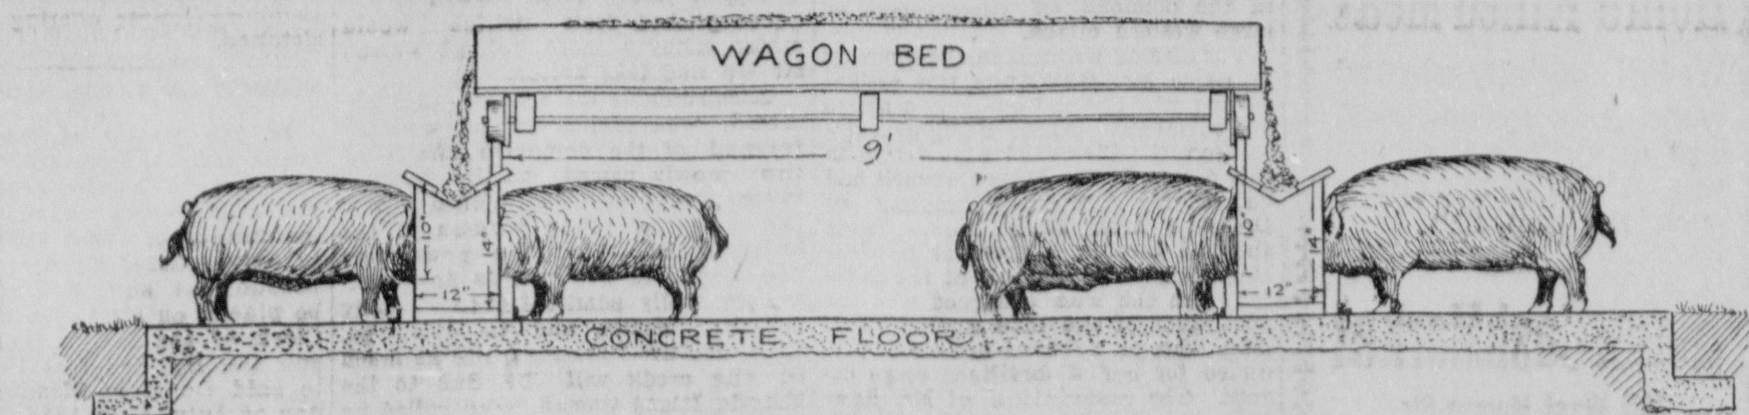

Wheeler was on the sick list Sunday and Arisman played short. He accepted all of his chances without an error. He let Clay's third hit fall safely when he might have got it. However, Clay was caught a moment later so the error of judgment did not count.

Philadelphia beat New York a double header Monday. The win probably was the surprise of the league for New York has been going good of late. The games were lost by bad pitching on the part of New York's slabmen. This bad pitching was done by Keating and Caldwell two of the Yanks best twirlers.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

SLOWNESS OF EXPORT DEMAND BRINGS DECLINE IN WHEAT

Prices Break to Below $1.00 a Bushel, the First Time for the 1915 Crop.

Chicago, June 21.—Wheat prices broke to below $1.00 a bushel today, the first time for the 1915 crop. Slowness of export demand together with a northward spread of the harvest did a good deal to force the decline. Prices closed steady at 35c to 45c under Saturday night's level. Other leading staples, too, showed losses—corn 1 1/2c to 2 1/2c, oats 1 1/2c and provisions 1 1/2c to 20c.

Weakness in the wheat market began under the influence of more favorable weather, especially in Oklahoma and Kansas. Then came word that cutting was general in important sections of Illinois, Missouri and Indiana and that the first car of new wheat this season had arrived at St. Louis. Besides, threshing returns from Oklahoma were said to show yields greater than had been expected. At this juncture reselling by foreigners appeared to deprive the bulls of any hope which remained. During the rest of the day liquidation proved general and shorts vigorously pressed the market still further on the downgrade.

Around $1.00 for September, many resting orders to buy wheat were covered but the sentiment of the trade as a whole was too bearish to permit a ready check. Virtually no attention was given to the fact that world shipments were the smallest in months. A decided reduction of the domestic visible supply passed also with little if any notice.

Corn suffered in value owing to the break in wheat and as a result of weather that promised to favor the bears. Argentine cargoes continued to be offered at New York. Oats ranged lower with other cereals. The September option, the same as in wheat, went to a new low level for the crop.

the tail. What I have done can be duplicated and improved upon by others. I merely studied the situation before coming here, and decided it was the lack of up-to-date methods rather than anything else that made farm land so cheap in Rhode Island.

"I am sure of it now. There is more profit on an acre of corn on land valued at $10 or $20 an acre in Rhode Island than there is on $200 an acre land in Illinois, if the same methods are used in producing the crops.

"My knowledge of other kinds of farming is extremely limited, but I believe the same thing is true of other crops. There are splendid opportunities in this state for young men, who will study the situation and who are willing to work, and I would be very glad to assist in any way possible in developing the agricultural resources of the State."

In that locality farmers have an acre from 200 to 300 acres and having a market value at that time of $300 an acre, land is too expensive a commodity to remain idle. Every square rod is cultivated. There are no brush covered meadows, no huckleberry pastures, but mile after mile of highways over vast plains pass well kept farms, where neighbors are few and far between.

For two years Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings remained upon the farm, 17 miles from Jacksonville, a settlement of a little more than 15,000 inhabitants and reached from their home only by a faint on horseback. During that period Mr. Rawlings was seriously studying the agricultural conditions of the East, where farms lie close to villages, stand cheek by jowl with the best markets in the country, where land is comparatively cheap and where freight charges are at a minimum.

As a result of his study he believed there were greater opportunities in New England where farming was being abandoned than there were in the corn belt upon which tillers of the soil were making increasing demands for land bringing a corresponding increase in its marketable value. He obtained soil maps of the New England states with the idea of selecting a farm upon which the soil would be similar to that in the corn belt permitting the use of Western implements. For he believed from what he had read that it was either the Eastern farmer's inability or disinclination to use Western methods which was responsible for the unprofitable farms in the New England states.

Coming east late in the autumn of 1912 he looked up farms upon which government maps showed soil and contour which would permit the use of machines. Among them were several answering these requirements which also had sufficient acreage to warrant the adoption of Western methods.

One of these was in the northern part of the South county. Visiting the locality he made a close inspection of the farm and ascertained its price and other details from the owner.

Sloping slightly southward, the entire tract was practically flat, the contour map showing a variation of less than a score and a half feet in the elevation of its surface above sea level. Standing well back from the highway leading from Hope Valley to Carolina was a substantially built house containing 17 rooms. Across the road was a commodious old barn. In addition there was a workshop, wagon shed, corn crib and henhouse, while great maple trees and a neglected orchard gave a picturesque appearance to the place.

Its potential possibilities were unusual, but it had been lying wholly idle for two years, improperly worked for more than a decade and its general appearance was shabby, unkempt and forbidding—features responsible, perhaps, for keeping it in the real estate market in spite of the state-wide advertisement that it was for sale at $5 an acre.

In comparison with the farms in his native state with which he was familiar the old Lillebridge property appeared to Mr. Rawlings as being a bonanza. The brush could be cleared from the once cultivated fields. The soil was such that once cleared of the rank growth of underbrush it could be worked easily by machines. The house could be repaired and made habitable and he believed that money spent in making these improvements would pay substantial interest on every dollar invested.

Were it not for the cloud of uncertainty in which the title was shrouded it would be the one farm that they would have immediately selected from all those investigated. Real estate men, familiar with its history, advised Mr. Rawlings to leave it alone unless he wished to get financially nipped by later having someone bob up with legal claims that would have to be settled.

But disregarding this advice, or observing it only to stipulate in his option that he would buy the farm for $5000 only on condition that he could first clear the title, he signed an agreement. Then leaving his interests in the hands of a real estate expert and relatives of Mrs. Rawlings, the young couple returned west.

A couple of months later a real estate man telegraphed an offer to pay $8000 for the option. This was refused and within a few days there came a letter from his representative stating that the title to the farm had been cleared and that the farm could then be sold for about $10,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings prepared to come East. Mrs. Rawlings and infant daughter came by train in the usual way. Mr. Rawlings hired a freight car in which he packed their household goods, farming implements, three or four horses and making a shakedown for himself in the car, started East on the tedious trip.

When the car was unloaded at the Little Rhode Island country freight station the complicated, awkwardlooking implements aroused more curiosity than a circus. There was a gang disc plow, for instance, which although in perfectly good condition, had the appearance of some clumsy machine that had been in a collision with a steam roller. There was also a corn planter with a big spool of wire cable stuck up behind, giving the machine the appearance of having some connection with a wire fence. It was not so difficult to guess the identity of the sulky plough, disc harrow and weeder, but taken all in all the implements formed a curious conglomeration which provided food for village gossip for miles around.

COUNCIL HEARS PROTEST ABOUT OILING THE STREET PAVEMENTS

Petition May be Presented Asking That Water be Used Instead of Oil—Council Will Welcome Propositions for More Wells at North End.

An increase in the water supply at the north side station and the advantages and disadvantages of oiling pavements were the principal themes of discussion at the session of the city council Monday morning. None of the commissioners had any special reports from their departments. When the opportunity was given for visitors to speak R. E. Pelham made a statement on behalf of the Layne Bowler Pumping company of Memphis, Tenn. This concern wants to make the city a definite proposition for sinking one or more wells at the north side station and will send a representative here for that purpose at some early date. Mayor Rodgers said the council was ready to listen to any proposition which might increase the supply of water or lower the cost of operation.

Oil Bad For Horses.

J. Thompson Sharpe entered a protest against the oiling of pavements on the ground that the oil surface is particularly dangerous for horses and has resulted in accidents a number of times. He said it was impossible for a horse to travel at any rate of speed on the oil surface unless shoes are kept constantly sharp. Members of the council were of varying opinions with reference to the advisability of oiling, but a majority of them seemed to believe that the plan now being followed represents the views of the majority of the property owners. Mr. Vasconcellos stated that it will be necessary to pump water from the south side station for a short time as the reservoir has not the supply that is advisable, and it will therefore follow that the supply will not be as clear as the people like. Mayor Rodgers asked if it would not be possible to shut off the water from the creek and use that from the lake instead, but Mr. Vasconcellos said this could not be done while the water in the creek is so high, but that a gate might be constructed later, which would make it possible to shut off the creek supply when desirable.

Mayor Rodgers then went on to say that the sooner the city could increase the supply from the north side station and have a continuous supply of clear water, the more satisfactory it would be to everybody. Mr. Vasconcellos said he intended to make an early visit to Bloomington to inspect wells there which have been sunk into a gravel bed resembling that here, and other cities might also be visited. He said that he wanted to make some personal investigation along this line before recommending the best type of well to be sunk here. He said that he understood there was one large well at Bloomington operated by three centrifugal pumps and that this type might have some advantages over the smaller wells.

Well Proposition to be Heard.

Mayor Rodgers was of the opinion that the large well had not been entirely satisfactory and that the Bloomington water department had decided upon a number of wells of smaller diameter. At this point Mr. Pelham said that the company for which he was talking would be willing to make a proposition to sink one or more wells and equip them with centrifugal pumps and wait for the money as long as the city wished to defer payment, with a moderate rate of interest. He said that the company was also ready to make another proposition to sink a well entirely at their own risk and expense and to make a contract to operate it at a less expense than that which he said that the only way to arrive at anything in the matter would be to have definite propositions in writing, and that the council would then be very willing to give them consideration.

When Mr. Sharpe entered a complaint about oiled pavements Mayor Rodgers said that he believed the results from oiling satisfactory and that while the oiled surface might be of some inconvenience to drivers of horses, that the oiling was done by property owners and paid for by them and he believed that the system represented the wishes of the majority of the people. Commissioner Martin said that personally he was opposed to oiling and he believed the slick surface was a source of great danger. Commissioner Cox was somewhat of the same view and said a number of complaints had been made to him and that while he personally preferred some other plan than oiling, that a majority of those who had expressed themselves thus far preferred the oil and he wished to carry out the will of the majority. Commissioner Widmayer was of like view and mentioned in the same connection that when water was used for setting the dust that the receipts from the water department were quite largely increased.

Want to Meet Peoples' Wishes. Later Commissioner Vasconcellos said that heretofore from $35 to $94 per month had been paid for water used in sprinkling. Mr. Sharpe asked if a petition would do any good in the matter, and Mayor Rodgers replied that they could not give an answer until such a petition had been filed. The intimation was that the council desires to carry out the will of a majority of the people and that if a petition was presented showing that the majority preferred sprinkling to oiling that that would be the order. Dr. C. B. Powell told of his driving horse slipping on the square pavement but said that the surface was also slippery when water was used for sprinkling and that in most instances when a horse fell that it was more the fault of the driver than the condition of the pavement. There was some further discussion of these subjects and then the council adjourned.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S HEAVY STORM DID UNUSUAL DAMAGES

Wheat and Corn Fields Suffer Greatly and Big Losses Incurred by Farmers—Apple Creek Highest It Has Been in History.

The storm of Sunday night seemed to have reached its greatest intensity south and southwest of Jacksonville. Several bridges were washed out in the vicinity of Alsey and the abutments to the bridge near the farm of Mrs. Charles O'Donnell, southeast of Winchester were washed out. The creeks are the highest they have been in years.

In the vicinity of Roodhouse there was considerable hail. William Ballard, one of the prominent farmers of that section had a forty acre field of wheat that was ruined by the storm. In many cases the heads of the wheat were completely cleaned. This wheat looked like $5 bushels to the acre. The hail, which was the size of walnuts in many instances, stripped the corn. Mr. Ballard estimates his loss at $5,000.

At Nebo farther south, railroad traffic was suspended because it was thought the bridge over Bay Creek was unsafe, and all trains were held until the water abated.

There was much damage to window lights in White Hall and at Carrollton the hail broke forty panes of glass from windows in the court house.

A gentleman in Jacksonville yesterday stated that an old tree close to Apple Creek had been marked every year to show how high the water was. Monday it was found to be several inches higher than known in its history. The fruit trees throughout the path of Sunday night's storm also suffered greatly.

During the Sunday night storm a house belonging to W. B. Rogers in Bluffs was damaged and the barn on the place of Clarence McCaleb was struck by lightning occasioning several hundred dollars worth of loss.

MUST PAY REVENUE TAX TO AVOID TROUBLE

Collector Pickering Makes Report About Delinquents—Number in Whole District is Large.

According to a letter sent out by J. L. Pickering, deputy collector of internal revenue, there are about ten Morgan county citizens who have failed to remit for their income tax. It is also stated that a number of managers of theatres and billiard halls and several brokers have also failed to make report. The letter also indicates that returns have not been made by 125 dealers in cigars and tobaccos, and 35 physicians, dentists, veterinarians and druggists who are liable under the narcotic law, have not yet made the returns which are due.

In the entire district there are 15,000 people who are liable under the federal law and are required to make returns to Mr. Pickering sometime this month. It will not be sufficient for the report to reach the office the last day but it must be mailed in sufficient time to give an opportunity for legal deposit in a Springfield bank by 3 o'clock. In 1914 it was necessary for the office to send back a great many reports to remitters on account of informalities and errors and thus by waiting until so late many were penalized. Judging by the past, late this month or early in July many persons will write claiming they have received no notices of assessment, or have lost or mislaid the blanks, or will claim that they have been ill.

Mr. Pickering states that notices were mailed weeks ago to everybody and no excuse for failure to remit will be accepted. The office has no wish to assess penalties but has no discretion in the matter if the returns are not made absolutely in accordance with the law.

MR. CHARLES R. WITHEE WEDS MISS BERTHA OPAL AUSTIN

Marriage Took Place Monday Evening at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Spires on South Clay Avenue—Will Reside in Greenville.

A simple but pretty home wedding took place Monday evening at eight o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Spires, 322 South Clay avenue, when Miss Bertha Opal Austin, became the bride of Mr. Charles R. Withee. Only immediate relatives and a few friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Percy W. Stephens, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The ceremony was said in the parlor, where a beautiful lattice work of roses, asparagus and ferns had been constructed. Sweet peas and potted plants were also used throughout the various rooms.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Albert Alderson of Waverly, a sister of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly," and "Oh, Promise Me". Miss Carrie Spires acting as accompanist. The young people entered the parlor while Miss Spires played the wedding march from Lohengrin. The ring was carried in a basket of white flowers by little Miss Robbie Rhoades. The ceremony was said in an impressive manner by Rev. Mr. Stephens by the use of the double ring Episcopal service. While the marriage was being performed the pianist played "Hearts and Flowers" and during congratulations, the Mendelssohn wedding march.

The bride is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Sturgis of Franklin, where she resided until four years ago when she came to Jacksonville to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Spires. For several months she has been a valued employee in Harmon's Dry Goods store. She is a young woman of beautiful character and accomplished in many ways. Many will be the friends who will wish her a bright and happy married life.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Withee, 1107 South Clay avenue. He received his education in the public school and was graduated from the high school with the class of 1911. For two years he was a student in the Chicago School of Applied and Normal Arts. He has ever been accounted a talented young man of upright life and sincerity of purpose. For several months he has been employed in the Armstrongs' Drug store.

Following the marriage light refreshments were served. The young people received a number of pretty and useful presents. They remained in the city last night, but later expect to take a wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends in Greenville, next month, where the groom will be connected with a drug store.

CASE CONTINUED.

Ray Fernandes who was arrested Saturday night on warrants sworn out by Grover Flynn charging assault and battery and selling liquor was arraigned in Justice Dyer's court Monday. The case for selling liquor was dismissed and the other continued. It is said that Fernandes wants to leave here and go to Colorado and if he does the cases will not be pushed.

James Montgomery who has been on the bond of Mrs. Ray Fernandes who is charged with the illegal sale of liquor, went into court Monday and surrendered her to the sheriff upon the surrender she was placed in the county jail.

IN MEMORY OF MRS.

J. EARL VASCONCELLOS

Hark! the Saviour has been calling,
Now another loved one's gone;
Gone to meet her God in heaven,
There to be at rest; at home,
Yes the home is broken ever
And we do not understand

Why our loving Beth was taken
To that far off Heavenly land.
How her tottering footsteps ever
Will be missed around the home
But her memory will be cherished
By the loved ones, sad and lone.

Four little hands are waiting
To greet her at the door,
And they do not understand
Why their mama comes no more.
Think of her white robes and waiting

For you on the other shore.
When the Father in his goodness,
Tells us that our race is run,
Let us bow our heads in praying
And, to say, "Thy will be done."
